KAMPTAL

Ried LAMM | 1^{ÖTW} Erste Lage | Kamptal^{DAC}

ORIGIN: Ried (single vineyard, cru) Lamm is situated on the southeast slope of the Heiligenstein. Erosion material from Ried Heiligenstein (perm, red siltstone) and a high proportion of clay is found here. The vineyard is south-facing and very well exposed, vines for the most part in Lyra training. This helps to develop grapes resulting in a wine with power and elegance.

CHARACTER: This expressive Grüner Veltliner imposes with its multi-layered aromas showing a lot of muscle but an elegant balance at the same time. Intensely yellow-colored it is recognized for its ripe tropical notes, flintiness, refinement and persistence. Even though this wine is a stellar experience on its own it easily pairs with a variety of food like asian cuisine, oriental dishes and roasts. It is a well known benchmark on prized winelists around the world, suggesting excellent aging potential.

WINELIST-DESCRIPTION: Ried Lamm is one of the icons of the Danube wine area. Its unique perm geology grows wines that often remind wine experts of Burgundy. Beneath a rich and creamy texture there is structure, complexity and elegance.
